Whether what you are doing is the wrong thing. It is not right.

What I know is your heart that I do not deserve this at all. So... you will get some money from me then and I'll say it's not deserved or earned because in a sense you are stealing from me and it feels horrible. Please reconsider

From John Kandel, Bad Horse Pizza

You should know that what you are doing hurts people; me in this example. I do not make a lot of money, as I run a small shop; Antonio was making more than I do most of the time he worked here. Your client, Antonio is a liar, which I pray will all soon be revealed. You make me sound very bad in your complaint, and it hurts me. I just wanted you to know this. I treat my staff very very well here, as Antonio would attest to had he not been fired (and Oh had I been close to firing him on several occasions before finally actually having the courage to do it; which in hindsight I wish I had in early 2012) from a job that paid him close to $50,000 (for making pizzas I remind you) which he will probably never earn again (at least working in one place: I guess he could, at minimum wage, in three different establishments/locations) or be treated so well, for the most part.

By you doing this complaint to extort, yes, that is what it feels like (or stealing, as well) money from me takes away from people who are TRULY treated unfairly at their workplace. and maybe one day after all the frivolous lawsuits, like this one, for revenge and money, people who really do make only $5 an hour, for long hours, in horrible conditions won't be able to have a deserved day in court.

You need to rethink what your role in the world is, and definitely how you proceed with the cases wherein revenge/easy money, and not "just" compensation, are the sole and obvious motivators.

I am sure you were bar mitzvah'd, as was I, and this is not what being a man is about.
